

Khalil Mamut- Dentist Visit

I was taken to a clinic, and the dentist came. And then they told me, "On which tooth do you have pain?" Then I showed this and that. And then he said, "Here we don't have any choice. You go back to the cell, or you have to let us pull it out. No medicine, nothing." So because of pain, so I'm going to show patience, and I told him, I said, "Okay." They made my tooth and around the gum numb, then...

Interviewer: Pulled...

Pulled it out. But actually they did it wrong. And I showed them my last one, but they didn't pull it out. The next they pulled out. I did not feel after, because they made it really, really strong numb. When I came to the cell after one day or two days, then my...Bahtiyar, he told me, "Which tooth did you pull out?" Then I told him, "The last one." "Show me." Then I opened my mouth, and he said, "No, the last one is okay. It's the one beside." I moved my tongue. Yeah, it was the next, not the last one. I was so upset. After three days, a nurse came, and I explained everything. And the dentist, he sent his, uh...

Interviewer: Assistant...

Assistant yeah. I said, "The last one, I told you the last one, but you pulled out the second one." This and that. "Okay, I'm sorry, it was...I was confused." This and that. So, what can I do? I mean, I was a detainee, jailed, imprisoned in a small cell, so I should have patience.